

What Can Machines Learn about Quantifiers?

Mikoláš Janota

Czech Technical University in Prague, Czech Republic

Abstract

Abstract: Quantifiers represent one of the major obstacles in automated reasoning. Can we use Machine Learning to help automated solvers to come up with good ideas for quantifier instantiation?